Did you know that:

Among the obligations of the employer at the time of the risk assessment defined in Annex XXXIV of Legislative Decree. 81/2008, are also included chairs for work use.

The norm that governs the construction characteristics of the chairs is the UNI EN 1335-1:2020, it is divided into classes A-B-C.

A matter of "class"?

Class A and B seats are the only compliant for workers engaged in video terminal, class C refers only to the executive and presidential seats.

The class A seat meets the requirements of D. Lgs. 81/2008 for work at the VDU, has acquired new standards, very high to meet, thus becoming the "super sitting" that has a set of high-performance components; provides for the most restrictive dimensional requirements, respects more the anthropometric dimensions from 5% to 95% of the population.

The class B seat meets the requirements of D. Lgs. 81/2008 for the work on the video terminal, with some adjustments related to the new method of evaluation of the backrest.

If you have to make a purchase of several sessions, the advice is to prefer class A seats, which are best suited to the different build of all colleagues.

TASK CHAIRS

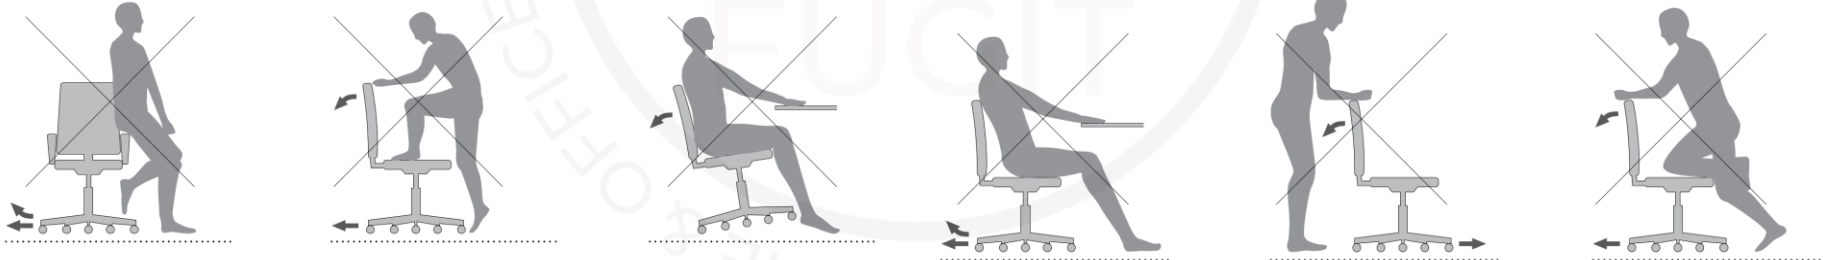

THE CORRECT POSTURE

For proper posture and maximum comfort, you need to keep in mind some simple rules:

- ✓ sit using all the depth of the seat;
- ✓ place your back on the back of the seat, adjusting it to properly position the lumbar area;
- ✓ adjust the height of the seat so that the feet rest at the ground and the thigh/leg angle shall be 90°.
